

Fayettestrasse zu Baltimore. 1797.

Evans 32522.

No copy located.

- 387 A New introduction to reading - or; A collection of easy lessons, arranged on an improved plan; calculated to acquire, with ease a fluency of speech, and to facilitate the improvement of youth - Designed as an introduction to the Speaker. The fourth edition, with additions, compiled by the publisher [Joseph Townsend] Baltimore: Published and sold by Joseph Townsend. 1797.

Title from the Federal gazette of February 18, 1797, advertisement headed, "School book. Just published, and for sale by Joseph Townsend, no. 18, Baltimore-street."

"The above introduction to reading, &c. having, in a remarkable manner, met with the public approbation in England, has induced the reprinting of it in this place, it being excellent in its kind ... and is now recommended to the use of our American schools." - the advertisement.

Not in Evans.

No copy located.

- 388 Paine, Thomas, 1737-1809.

Agrarian justice, / opposed to / agrarian law, / and to / agrarian monopoly, / being a plan for / meliorating the condition of man, / by creating in every nation / a national fund, / to pay to every person, when arrived at the age of twenty- / one years, the sum of fifteen pounds sterling, to enable him or / her to begin the world ! / And also, / ten pounds sterling per annum during life to every person now / living of the age of fifty years, and to all others when they / shall arrive at that age to enable them to live in old age without / wretchedness, and go decently out of the world. / [rule] / By Thomas Paine, / author of Common sense, Rights of man, Age of reason, &c. / [rule] / Baltimore: / Printed for George Keatinge's bookstore. / 1797. //

12°. 19 1/2 cm.